JAMES IVORY HOMELESS PERSONS' MEMORIAL DAY TO BE OBSERVED DEC. 21

JACKSON--Homeless persons, homeless service providers and advocates will gather at 9:00 a.m. Wednesday, Dec. 21 at Galloway United Methodist Church in Jackson to observe James Ivory Homeless Persons' Memorial Day.

Since 1992, the event - held on or around the first day of winter - has served to remember homeless persons who have died during the year and to call attention to the many issues of homelessness.

The event is sponsored by the Mississippi State Hospital Community Services Stubbs PATH Program and Partners to End Homelessness in conjunction with the National Coalition for the Homeless. Jackson's observance is named for the late James Ivory, a former director of the Jackson-Hinds Comprehensive Health Center's Homeless Clinic, who was an ardent advocate for the homeless.

This year's event at Galloway will include the reading of the proclamation by the City of Jackson, music presented by Galloway's Grace Place Singers, a candle lighting litany and remembrance, an update from Partners to End Homelessness as well as scripture readings and expressions.

Last year, communities across the country recognized Homeless Memorial Day with candlelight vigils, plays, and other observances. These events all call attention to the estimated 3 ½ million people, including more than a million children, who are likely to experience homelessness in a given year.
